Online Legal Document Company to Offer Free Documents to Charities

VANCOUVER, CANADA (March 6, 2007) Documatica Legal Forms Inc. has announced the creation of a new program, Contracts with a Conscience, which will provide charitable organizations in the United States and Canada with unlimited access to their online legal document selection at no cost. To qualify for the program, charities must complete a short application form outlining their purpose and legal document needs. Upon approval of the application, Documatica will provide each organization with the legal forms they require, at no charge. The application forms and instructions are available online at <http://www.documatica-forms.com/charity.php>.

Since its start in 2005, Documatica has taken pride in providing innovative automated legal forms for a variety of applications. The documents are fully customizable for common-law jurisdictions throughout the United States and Canada, and can be downloaded in PDF, Microsoft Word, or HTML format. Documatica's selection of online documents is rapidly expanding and includes many popular forms such as a residential lease, promissory note, child travel consent, and more.

The Contracts with a Conscience program marks the latest in a series of community-oriented initiatives Documatica has undertaken, including a legal notice of bullying, child medical consent, and publishing/copyright agreement. "At Documatica, we are always searching for new ways to make our documents more accessible and more useful to the public," says Christie Foreman, Legal Writer. "We are hoping that the Contracts with a Conscience program will allow charities to dedicate more funding to their causes, which we believe will help to improve our communities."
